

NYS HEALTH
FOUNDATION

Improving the state of New York's health

A Matter of Equity: NYC Voters' Opinions on Universal Free School Lunch

April 2017

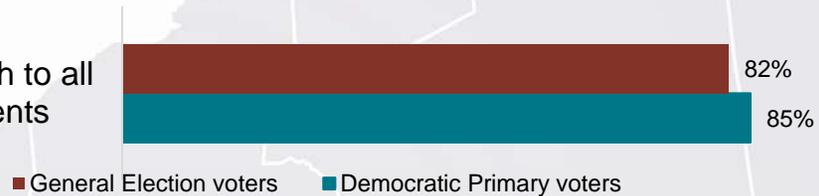

Key Findings

- 82% of NYC voters support universal free school lunch
 - Two-thirds would be more likely to vote for a mayoral candidate who supports free school lunch
- Support for universal free school lunch is intense
 - 72% say it should be a major priority
 - It ranks as high on the agenda as other issues like affordable housing for seniors, police body cameras, and opening shelters for the homeless
- New Yorkers support school lunch for multiple reasons, including:
 - Promoting economic and educational equity
 - Providing financial help to working families
 - Advancing students' physical and emotional health
 - Improving students' academic performance and graduation rates

New York City Voters Overwhelmingly Support Universal School Lunch

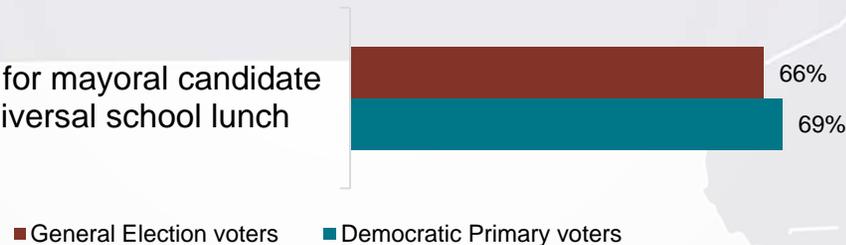

- 82% of NYC voters support universal free school lunch

Support providing free lunch to all NYC public school students

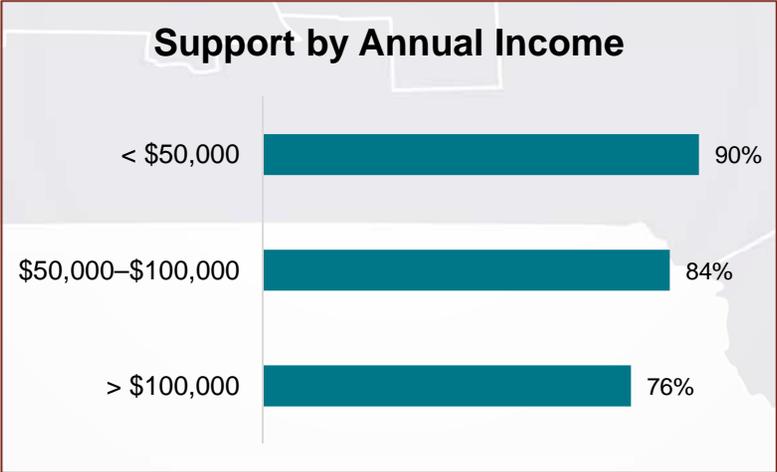

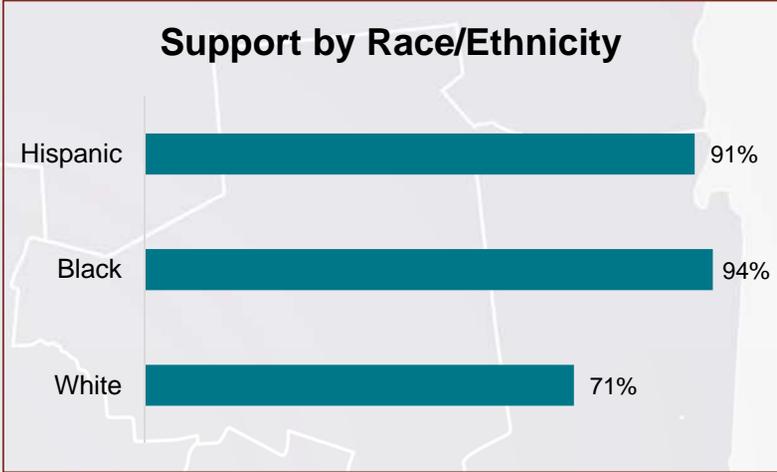

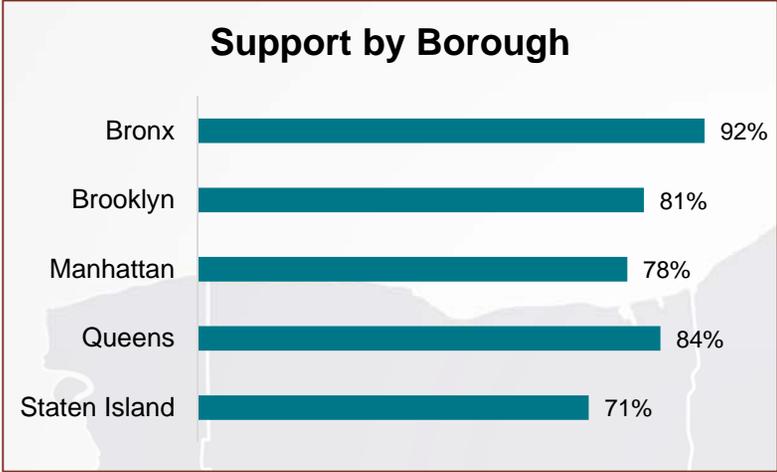

- New Yorkers would be more likely to vote for a mayoral candidate who supports free school lunch

More likely to vote for mayoral candidate who supports universal school lunch

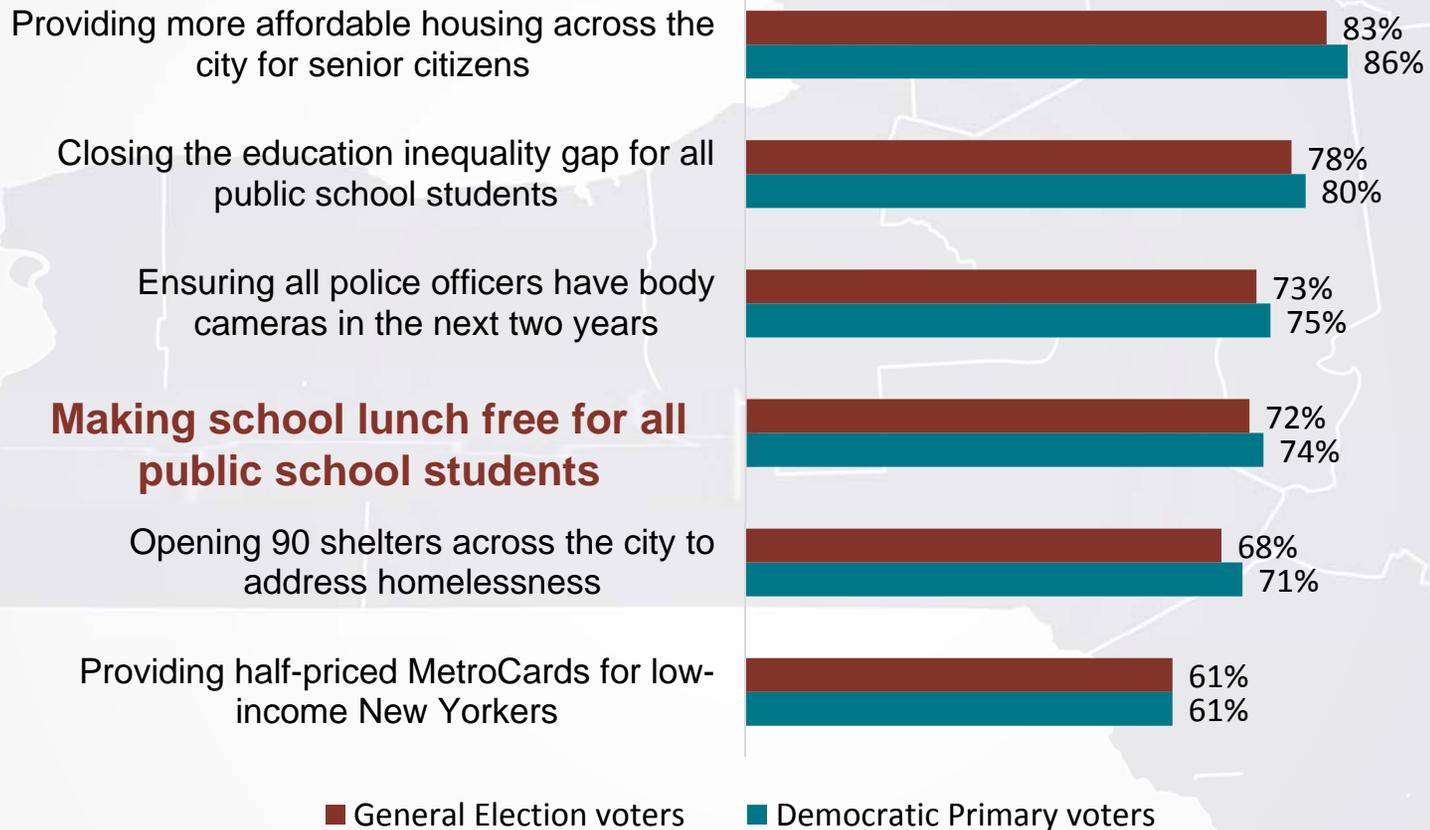

Support for Universal School Lunch Is High Across Boroughs and Population Groups

School Lunch and Closing Educational Equity Gaps Are Major Priorities for New Yorkers

Percentage saying an issue should be a major priority

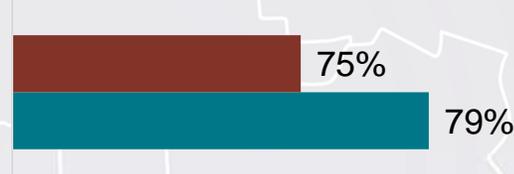

Voters View School Lunch As a Broad Equity Issue

Percentage saying free school lunch...

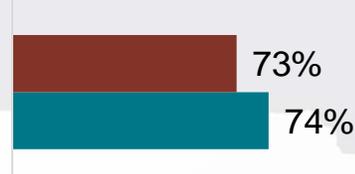

Closes the economic gap for working families

Is an important part of making NYC more affordable

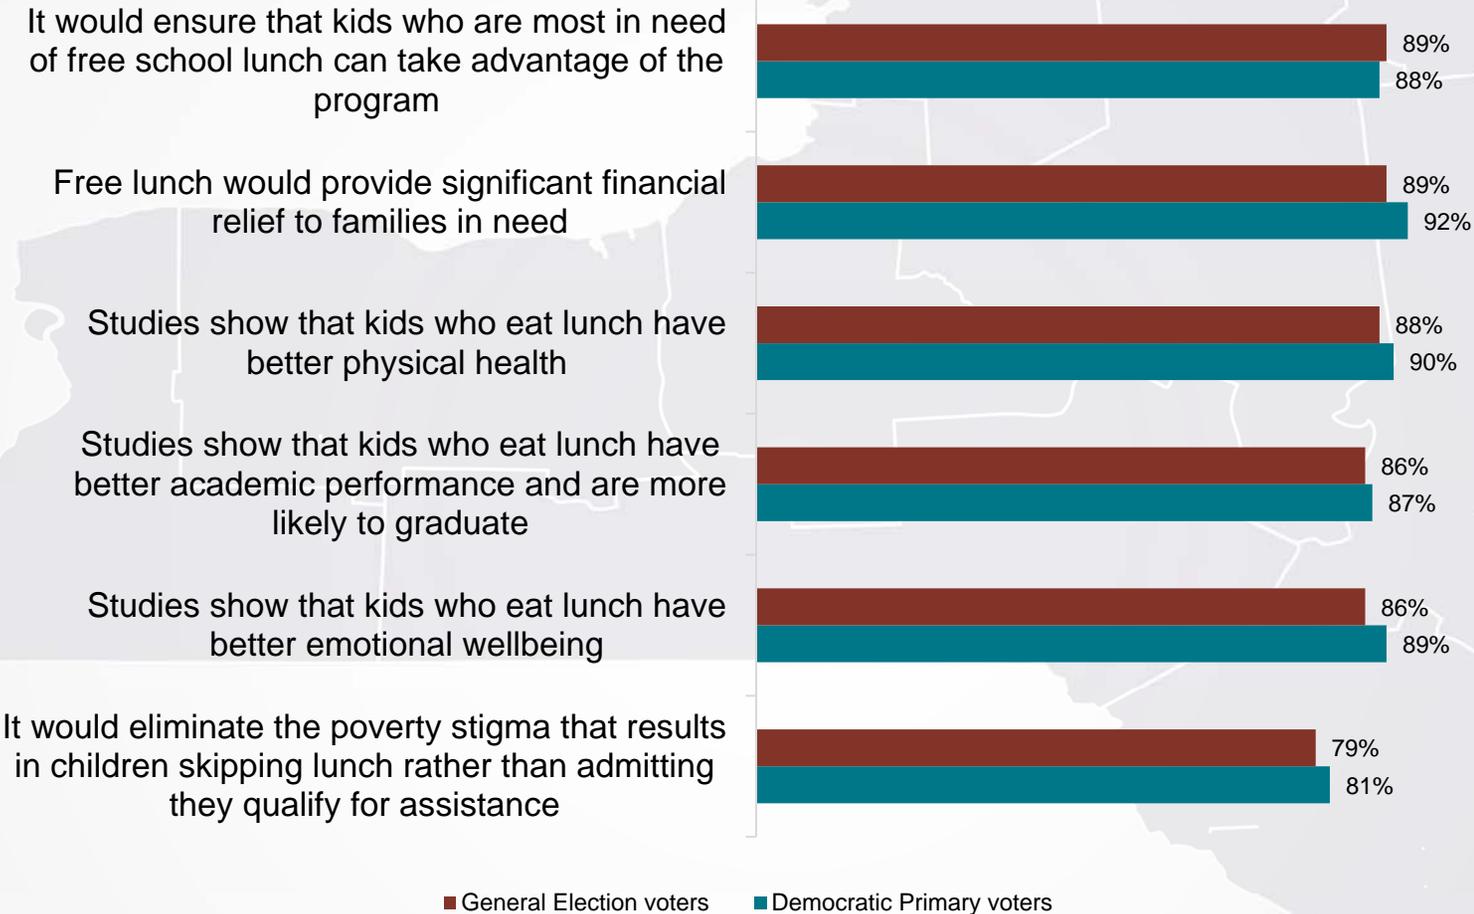

Is an important part of closing the educational divide

■ General Election voters

■ Democratic Primary voters

NYC Voters Support Universal Free School Lunch for Multiple Reasons

Methodology

- Global Strategy Group conducted a telephone survey April 3–6, 2017, with 600 likely 2017 general election voters and 414 likely 2017 Democratic primary voters in New York City.
- The geographic and demographic samples of the expected electorate are properly represented based on past voter turnout statistics.
- The results have a margin of error of +/-4.0% for General Election and +/-4.9% for Democratic Primary voters.